Tat Crowe, Omnha," Scribbled on Newly Whitewashed Surface, Gentle Reminder Ho Is Uncaught.

"Pat Crowe, Omaha."

This written on the newly whitewashed wails of the Pour Courts basement has set the sleuths of the Central District and Detective Bureau to thinking.

Could it be possible, they are asking each other, that the clusive Patrick who is like the first that it monitored in connections. the flea that is mentioned in connection with some other Patrick, could have come here to the Four Courts to write his

Pat Crowe has an envisible reputation among evil-doers as a man who can scent policemen and detectives for blocks and stay out of their sight. It would be a feather in any detective's stay out of their sight.

It would be a feather in any detective's cap to catch Pat Crowe. For a uniformed policeman to get him would be too much for the expansion of his cheat and the swelling of his head. Brass buttons would fly from his coat and his helmet would be entirely too small about the time he read in the newspapers how he time he read in the newspapers how he got Crowe.

The Chiefs, however, have no confidence in the report that a seedily dressed man who was seen in the basement yesterday morning was Crowe in disguise. They believe the name was written by some wag as a gentle reminder to the detectives and bluecoats that Fatrick is still uncaught and the kidnaping of Millionaire Cuddahy's boy is still unpunished.

HOLMES FAILS TO APPEAR TO ANSWER COTTON SCANDAL

Former Statistician, Indicted b Government, Dorn Not Come to Court, as Promised.

Washington, Aug. 26.—Former Assistant Statistician Edward S. Hoimes Jr., of the Department of Agriculture, failed to appear before the court to-day and give bonds for $16,000, as his autorney had promised he would do. His attorney promises to produce him Monday.

Concerning the previous whereabouts of his client, Attorney Lester said:

"Mr. Holmes was in a far Western State when the first publicity was given to what is called the cotton leak. He at once returned to this city, and i notified the District Attorney of his presence and that he would be on hand if he was wanted.

"He stayed here for some time and then took an extensive trip West, going as far as Washington State, where he remained several days. He has never thought of leaving the country, but on the contrary courts an investigation, which will disclose the real facts, and which he knows will establish his innocence."

Mrs. Mary J. Buckmaster, one of Alton's oldest as well as best-known ladica, besets of the proud fact that she has been a constant reader of The Republic for overhalf a century.

In fact, so accustomed has Mrs. Buckmaster become to the daily visit of The Republic to her home that the reading of it has become as fixed with her as the partaking of the meals.

Mrs. Buckmaster, for many years has been a prominent figure in the history of the Alton. She is now in her eighty-eixth year. She still makes her home at the Buckmaster residence, at No. 11B State street, keeping house with her daughter. Mrs. Buckmaster is the wildow of Samuel A. Buckmaster, who for years was the warden and manager of the Alton Penitentiary. Mr. Buckmaster was a prominent figure in Alton, when that city was considered a rival of St. Louis in many points, including population and commercial activity. IAMONDS RECOMING SCARCE. De Beers Syndicate Advances Price of Rough Stones.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

New York, Aug. M.—Diamonds are becoming scarce. The De Beers mining syndicate says so and backs up its dictum by advancing the price of rough diamonds 6 per cent. Incidentally the only important mine in the Transvani outside the syndicate, the Fremier, is flooded with mud and temporarily out of operation.

But the trade in this city denies that the advance is made by the syndicate because of the temporary dismovantage of its rival. It is pointed out that the price of precious stones has been raised By per cent within the year, and it is also said to be likely that within a short time the price will be again advanced, so that is a year or two more the selling price of rough stones will be twice what it was a few years ago. RATE DECISION IS DELAYED. Supplemental Brief Filed Illinois Commission.

REPURING SPECIAL.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 36.—Former Attorney General Hamlin, representing the shippers of Illinois, has filed a supplemental brief with the Illinois Railroad and Warehouse Commission in the freight-rate case.

The brief sets out arguments additional to those presented eraily before the commission, when the hearing took piece on the petition for a general reduction and reclassification of Illinois freight tartis.

It is probable that the filing of this supplemental brief will cause some delay in the decision of the commission. The board will furnish a copy of the brief to each of the railroads interested in the proceedings, and it is probable that the roads will receive an opportunity to reply to the new arguments.
